MUSICAL FESTIVAL ASSISTS CULTURAL LIFE OF COMMUNITY

In order that children may have an opportunity to cultivate the arts of music, elocution and drama; concerts, plays and festivals are held frequently throughout the year, although there are many years of work and study between the child performer and the world-famous musician, yet concert artists look back with pleasure on their first performance at the annual school concert or musical festival. It was at juvenile entertainments such as these that two of Canada's world-famous musicians, Edward Johnson, tenor, of Guelph, Ontario, and Lynnwood Farnam, organist of Sutton, Quebec, received their start on the concert stage. Mr. Johnson has received world-wide notoriety for his performances as leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Co., New York, and his successes in the musical centres of Europe.

Mr. Farnam, organist of Church of Holy Communion, New York, has been acclaimed by critics in England and America as the greatest organist of his time, his colossal feat was the playing from memory in one season of twenty organ recitals all the organ compositions of J. S. Bach. The attendance was so large that each program had to be repeated the following evening. Space will not allow the mentioning of other outstanding Can-

A meeting of the general committee of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival will be held in the Greenhill hotel on Monday evening, September 30th, at 8 o'clock.

CRABB-THIBODEAU

St. Michael's rectory, Pincher Creek, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday, September 16th, at 2:30, when Miss Jeanette A. Thibodeau became the bride of Burton G. Crabb, both of Lethbridge, Rev. Father J. Panhaleux officiating. The bride wore a becoming ensemble of new blue transparent velvet and carried roses and lilies of the valley. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jette, of Pincher Creek, at whose home a wedding luncheon was served following the ceremony. Only immediate friends were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Crabb will reside in Lethbridge.

The bride was a former resident of Blairmore, daughter of the late Mr. Paul Thibodeau, former school janitor here, and Mrs. Thibodeau, now resident of Montana. She was educated at the local school, and was employed for several years at the local telephone exchange.

adian musicians but all will agree that festivals have a place in the cultural life of a community.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. J. O. ROBERTS

A farewell party was given by the United Church Ladies' Aid and Church Board in the gymnasium of the church, on Tuesday evening of this week, to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roberts, who left for Calgary on Wednesday afternoon's train, where they will in future reside.

The party took the form of a contest, in which Mrs. J. O. Roberts won the ladies' prize and Mr. F. M. Thompson the gents'. After the contest, Mrs. Lyons gave a recitation, which was much enjoyed by the audience, this being followed by a very delightful luncheon.

After supper, Mrs. Larke presented Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roberts with a beautiful picture of 'Crows' Nest Mountain on behalf of the Ladies' Aid and Church Board. Mr. Roberts replied in a very able manner. This brought a very delightful evening to a close.

REASON FOR RETIRING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

EDMONTON, Sept. 23.—Supernumeration of all government employees, both male and female, at the required age, will be carried out, according to provisions of the enabling legislation, Premier William Abernethy announced Monday. It is expected that 32 employees will be affected.

The supernumeration age for men is 65 and for women 60.

"We are compelled to enforce this provision to increase efficiency and decrease administration costs," said the Premier. "We are compelled to carry out this work in our policy of readjustment of government services. Our reorganization is being carried out with a view to consolidating various features of work and eliminating overlapping of services.

"Our main idea is to balance our budget and maintain the credit of the province and certain reorganization is necessary."

Five veteran members of the civil service in this province may be effected by the above policy, it appeared Wednesday, but as consideration will be given, however, to extenuating circumstances, some may be continued in office.

While the government has made no announcement of those who may be retired, prominent officials who have reached the age limit include: James Kinney, member of the Workmen's Compensation Board; W. D. Spence, chairman of the Alberta Assessment Commission; Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief coroner of the province for many years; E. B. Cogswell, K.C., veteran crown prosecutor at Edmonton; John D. Hunt, K.C., clerk of the executive council.

Some of these named reached the retirement age some years ago, but have been continued in office. After reaching sixty-five, however, they were not required to continue to contribute to the supernumeration fund.

Trynholme Dickson, K.C., official guardian and administrator of estates for the provincial government for the past thirteen years, applied to be retired and his resignation has been accepted.

CONGRATULATIONS

TO CAPT. BEEBE

In the lineup announced for last Sunday's football game—Blairmore versus Fernie—the name of "Beebe" was entered as a full-back. Probably Capt. Beebe, who today celebrates his 88th birthday. The congratulations of every citizen of the Crows' Nest Pass are today extended to one of the most highly respected of our citizens.

Capt. Beebe was born in Norfolk, Ontario, on September the 26th, 1847, of the marriage of Jordan and Elizabeth (Thompson) Beebe, the former a native of Scotland and the latter of Canada. Both parents are deceased. The latter was one of the best known hotel proprietors in eastern Canada, conducting his operations in Oakland, Ontario, for twenty years, while for ten years he managed an hotel at Bentley in that province.

Mr. Beebe was reared and educated in his native province and started out in commercial life at Bay City, Michigan, in the dredge and vessel business, and later established a wholesale fisheries business at Port Arthur, Ontario. While thus engaged he became known as "Captain" Beebe. He spent the greater part of his time on the American side, and afterwards sold out, going to the gold region of the Klondike. He remained in that country from 1896 until 1900, and his thrilling experiences during that period are recorded in a diary, for which he has received many tempting offers, but has always refused to sell.

In 1900 he made his way to Blairmore and established a real estate and insurance business, which he has since successfully conducted.

At the time of his arrival here, the town was in its infancy, consisting only of a railroad station. Through his real estate activities, Captain Beebe has converted unsightly vacancies, not into unsightly boulevards, but into attractive business and residential districts, and his work has been of signal service in promoting Blairmore's upbuilding and improvement. Only recently, one of his most important sites was disposed of, and is being occupied by an imposing garage.

Mr. Beebe only recently relinquished the local agency for the Canadian Pacific Express Company, which he has held for many years.

Captain Beebe, at the age of 88, has decided to pay a visit to a daughter, Emma, in Detroit, Michigan, and left on such holiday trip yesterday. He is experiencing excellent health, and feels like entering the role of a marathoner or a "pug." "Congratulations, Cap," seems to be the common word today.

REV. J. WOOD, HILLCREST, HEADS PRESBYTERY

Sessions of the Lethbridge presbytery, United Church of Canada, opened Monday afternoon in the United church at Taber, with Rev. Roy C. Taylor, B.D., of Coleman, presiding.

Around twenty-five ministerial and lay delegates were in attendance, including: Rev. Roy C. Taylor, chairman; A. E. Larke, secretary; J. Wood, R. Upton, R. H. Brett, F. T. Hagwood, C. B. Oakley, A. H. Throver, W. Little, J. M. Pritchard, A. J. Mitchell, T. Taylor, O. B. Lavers, N. M. Whitmore, A. L. Elliott, as pastors; and A. Beck, J. E. Tennant, W. Gray, A. Elford, E. R. J. Forster, F. Henderson (treasurer), A. Burbridge, Mrs. Hagwood, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Taylor, as lay delegates.

Rev. John Wood, of Hillcrest, was chosen chairman for the ensuing year and Rev. Larke and Mr. P. Henderson were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The presbytery will convene in Lethbridge next year.

DAUGHTERS OF EMPIRE

AWARD SCHOOL PRIZES

At their fifteenth anniversary party, held in Colombo's cabaret on Thursday night last, Crows' Nest Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire presented their annual prizes to the pupils in Grade VIII, who last year obtained the highest average marks.

Allan Gillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gillis, having obtained the very high mark of 94, was presented with first prize, while Paraske Gushul and Isabel Meffan tied for second with an average of 89½. Mrs. R. A. Fraser, vocational secretary, in making the presentations, congratulated the successful pupils on their wonderful work.

Donald Macpherson, principal of the school, and Miss G. Frey, teacher of Grade VIII, spoke on school work. J. E. Gillis, Thomas Gushul and G. Meffan, replied on behalf of their children.

During the supper interval, the regent, Mrs. John Patterson, presented Messrs. E. A. Harper and J. A. Kerr with handsome leather bill folds as a mark of appreciation for their services to the Order on different occasions. Mrs. J. O. Roberts, a member of the Order, who is about to leave Blairmore for Calgary with her husband to reside, was also recipient of a silver cake basket as a token of esteem and appreciation of good services.

During the evening, draws were made for prizes, A. Vangotsimov winning the lovely quilt while G. Meffan carried off the mystery box.

During the first part of the evening, what was played, prizes going to Mrs. S. Simister, ladies' first; Mrs. A. C. Decoux, second; H. Blake, gents' first; T. Hadwell, second. The beautiful birthday cake was cut by Mrs. F. M. Pinkney, and a portion assigned to each guest.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

For the first time in the history of the Bombay high court, a microphone and amplifier has been put in use in one of the chambers.

Field Marshal Lord Allenby, who celebrated his 70th birthday on St. George's Day, April 23, has an avary stocked with many varieties of foreign finches.

A woman who cashed a cheque in an Edmonton bank wasn't taking any chances. The cheque read: "Pay to Mrs. . . . 15 'Canadian dollars.' She got them.

Father John Louis Stacey, 38, died at the wheel of his car in Edmonton as he drove to a city hospital to get treatment for a heart ailment. The car crashed into another parked machine.

Indicative of the rapid mechanization of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, not one saddle horse is stabled in the force's barracks at MacLeod, Alta. All animals formerly kept at southern Alberta detachments have been disposed of.

A few weeks ago Joseph Eckert, 15, collided with a buggy while riding his bicycle in Stratford, Ont. The shaft of the buggy went clear through the boy's body, an inch below the heart. Now he is up and around again almost as well as ever.

Two men were sentenced to five years' imprisonment for firing shots at a procession of Orangemen on the streets of Belfast, July 12. They were Thomas Connolly and Joseph McDonald.

Several persons were killed and wounded in the July riots.

Vancouver is returning to a normal financial position "better than any other city in Canada," A. C. E. Tisdal, chairman of the civic finance committee, told the Retail Credit Grantors' Association in session in that city.

Will Not Accept Legacy

English Woman Dreads Curse Laid

On August 19 Because she dreads an Indian curse laid on one of her ancestors who, she believes, despoiled a temple, Mrs. J. Schofield, of Hensall, near Liverpool, England, refuses to touch a legacy left by her mother.

Instead she devotes all the money to a religious cause, hoping that in this way the power of the curse will be broken.

Said Mrs. Schofield: "We need the money badly, my husband and I, but I am afraid to touch it. It comes indirectly from my ancestor's estate. My great-uncle won a law action against an Indian maharajah on December 13, 1844. It gave him jurisdiction over certain land on which was a temple dedicated to a vestal goddess.

"Two days later he was found in the temple, stabbed to the heart with a jeweled dagger. A piece of parchment on the curse written on it lay on the body.

"Note the two dates—Dec. 13 and Dec. 15. My father died on the 13th of a month; my mother on the 15th, in tragic circumstances. Other members of the family have died tragically on those two dates.

"The curse particularly affected the women of the family. That is what decided me."

Deer Halts Ocean Liner

Navigation Speed Still Until Swimming Animal Was Rescued

A young buck deer went for a swim along the Vancouver waterfront and the episode proved so momentous it halted an ocean liner, brought out a police cruiser and even impeded the British navy.

A longshoreman waiting to work the Empress of Japan saw the deer swimming in the harbor and noticed the animal was tiring. His shouts brought a police launch to the scene and excitement raged along the half-mile of the waterfront.

H.M.S. Danne, leaving for Victoria, sounded its alarm, the S.S. Princess Marguerite, a ferry boat, a cargo ship and a number of smaller craft halted in their courses as the police boat performed a rescue. Slipping a noose over the head of the weary animal, it was hauled aboard the launch. The buck was later released on the north shore and navigation continued.

Picture Well Preserved

A picture of King Edward VII, chiselled in the coal wall of the Marsh Mine more than 25 years ago by Engineer-driver John Campbell of Westville, Nova Scotia, was found to be in a remarkably good state of preservation when the mine was being dewatered. The Greenwood Coal Company was having the colliery dewatered to work in new coal areas.

Cane Sugar Growers Worried

Afraid Best Cultivation In United Kingdom Will Run Industry

With the United Kingdom Government subsidizing beet sugar at home, the British West Indies and British Guiana are wondering what is to become of their cane sugar industries—already depressed by low prices.

Barbados, whose only possible crop for commercial purposes is cane, is particularly anxious to ascertain how far the Imperial Government intends to go with the cultivation of beets for sugar.

This island of 106,270 acres has 100,000 acres under cultivation, and of a population of 180,000 about 120,000 colored people look to the sugar cane plantations for employment.

Nearly all the planters are now in debt to the banks and are growing cane only in the hope of better times, and in order to support the enormous working population.

Should they be obliged to abandon sugar, the island would be penniless, it is said. There would be no question of dole, because all the colony's taxes come from the planters, and with their ruin the chief source of revenue would be shut.

Some of the other islands with different vegetation have a better outlook. Grenada, for example, is making up for sugar losses by devoting much land to cultivation of other crops, and has been successful this year with bananas grown under a supply contract for a Canadian company.

Coached Popular Actor

Edmonton Man Taught Chevalier To Speak English

The man who taught Maurice Chevalier to speak English in a German prison camp at Alten Grabow, Germany, during the war lives in Edmonton to-day. William King, who coaxed out of him the secret of his success, has been successful this year with bananas grown under a supply contract for a Canadian company.

Captured during the first gas attack, King spent some time in a German hospital and then was placed in Alten Grabow camp. There he met the handsome young Frenchman, Chevalier, and for nearly a year was his constant companion.

"Unable to speak a word of English, Chevalier was coached by King to speak and sing in English. They even put on a musical show in the camp to brighten the long prison hours. "Before Chevalier was repatriated he had mastered the language fairly well and was extremely grateful to us," King said.

Stratosphere Flights

Famous Flyer Says This Method Is Not Practical

Col. Roscoe Turner, America's dauntless cavalier of the air who has formed the habit of roaring across the continent in a few minutes over 10 hours, on a visit to Toronto, said stratosphere flying was a "practical impossibility."

"When you get up in the thin air, have to supercharge your motors and make the cabins air-tight, the cost becomes prohibitive," Turner said. "The world will never see commercial flying in the stratosphere. A medium will be established half way between the stratosphere and the present air lanes where commercial planes can operate most economically."

One Of Queerest Jobs

Man Is Wasp-Catcher To Firm Of Chocolate Makers

The News of the World, London, says one of the queerest jobs in the world is that of a man who is wasp-catcher to Fry's, the chocolate makers, whose employees were being bothered by the insects.

During May and June he destroys as many queen wasps as possible to prevent their breeding. From July onward he scours the adjacent fields and destroys nests. Expert as he is, he sometimes makes a slip, and recently he was compelled to divert himself of his shirt, into which over 40 infuriated insects had penetrated.

AT HISTORIC CAIRN

Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is shown here with little Joyce Austin, daughter of W. T. Austin, section foreman at Craigellachie, B.C., following Sir Edward's recent visit to the Craigellachie cairn which marks the spot where Lord Strathcona on November 7, 1885, drove the last spike completing the Canadian Pacific Railway from ocean to ocean. On behalf of Craigellachie's handful of citizens Miss Austin presented the C.P.R. president with a bouquet of home grown flowers, a tribute which Sir Edward acknowledged with a hearty handshake. Sir Edward visited the memorial cairn in the 50th anniversary year of C.P.R. history as it will be 50 years on November 7 since Lord Strathcona drove the momentous spike.

Value Of Grain Crop

Western Crop Estimated Value Placed At $241,381,000

Western Canada's grain this year will be worth more than at any time since 1931, according to an estimate by the Winnipeg Free Press.

Based on present prices, says the estimate, the total 1935 grain crop will bring $241,381,000. The paper, using its own 274,764,000-bushel estimate, says wheat will be worth $156,615,000 at the Port William figure of 74 cents a bushel (price for average minimum grade) less 17 cents average haul.

Thus, says the paper, the total 1935 crop is $241,381,000 more valuable than the 1931 crop, $129,000,000; $83,857,000 more valuable than 1932, $158,524,000; $71,338,000 more valuable than 1933, $170,043,000; $18,326,000 more valuable than 1934 $223,055,000.

Jasper-Edmonton Highway

Believe Arrangements Made To Ensure Construction

Climaxing a 15-year fight, construction of a fully-standard, all-weather highway from Edmonton to Jasper appears assured at last, according to an announcement by acting Premier Manning for taking over the abandoned railway grade section of the highway had been completed and sufficient funds secured to guarantee the necessary construction, which will consist mainly of widening the grade.

In The Olden Days

Women Raced Their Own Yachts

When Victoria Was Queen Recent yachting activities remind a writer in Overseas that before bicycling bloomers loomed on the horizon of emancipated womanhood the fair sex was already challenging the supremacy of man in the sailing competitions in British waters.

Even as far back as the reign of Queen Victoria there were at least six women racing their own yachts in the Solent, and in 1869 the first of the "ladies' races," which are now so popular a feature of every yacht club regatta, was sailed.

In 1880, however, the activities of these "Solent sailresses," as they were called, received something of a set-back, for although races were especially provided in the program of a certain club, some owners objected to this form of sport and for several years the Solent yachtswomen were kept somewhere in the background.

Early in the present century this objection seems to have died down, and women were once more owning and sailing their own metre boats not only in their own races, but in competition with what was then known as "the sterner sex."

They did not find it necessary to don shorts or trousers, these yachtswomen of the days when the King was Prince of Wales, but put valiantly to sea in long skirts and big hats, tied under the chin with motoring veils. These would be considered impracticable and even dangerous by the sailresses of 1935.

As a general rule, large birds live longer than small ones.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 29

JOHN (The Minister And His People).

Golden text: Beloved, imitate not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; he that doeth evil hath not seen God. III John 11.

Lesson: III John. Devotional Reading: I John 4:7-21.

Explanations and Comments

Salutation, verse 1. John, the writer of this epistle, calls himself "the elder," a title which may have been an official one, indicating dignity and authority, or it may be a reference to his age. Gaius was a common name among the Romans. Gaius the beloved, to whom John writes this personal letter, may have been an elder or a pastor. "Whom I love in truth," writes John. "The truth, as it is used in this epistle, has almost a technical meaning, implying not only the eternal principle, but also the organization which embodies it—the Church" (Dummelow).

Explanations, verses 2-8. John wishes that the well-being and health of Gaius may correspond to his spiritual well-being. He rejoices greatly when messengers came to him from the church to which Gaius belonged and brought word that Gaius was conducting himself worthily. I was overjoyed when those messengers arrived and testified to the truth of your life, as indeed you do missionaries would not accept salvation. "The itinerant brethren were always at work, going out from Ephesus on their missions and returning with their reports" (David Smith). No greater joy could come to him, John declared, than to learn that his children were walking in the truth.

Beloved, writes John, that is a fine work you do when you aid (set forth) the truth. Food, lodging, etc.—brethren and strangers; they have testified to your love before the church. The church had little to commend them, moreover, travelling Christians were usually poor, and the giving of hospitality to them was an important part of the work in the early church. Pray speed them on their journey worthy of God; they have started out for his sake and declined to take anything from pagans; hence we are bound to support such men. I have written to the Christians among whom they labored lest their mission work be thought a mercenary one.

These Frogs Are Different

Species Shown In New York Ship Tadpole Stage

Three young frogs no larger than houseflies, shown in the biology laboratories of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, were on exhibition along with several hundred other amphibians, reptiles and fish at the annual show of the Aquarium Society.

Visitors rubbed their eyes when the three frogs, known scientifically as eleutherodactylus johnsoni, hopped onto a dime, leaving room for six or eight more.

Dr. G. Kingsley Noble, curator of the museum's department of experimental biology, explained smallness was not their only unusual characteristic. They were one of the few species of frogs, he said, which had no tadpole stage, the young being ready for business as soon as they popped out of the egg.

It developed some time back in their dim past, they had a tadpole stage but eventually found themselves in a pretty pickle with hard-to-swim water handy for a tadpole to swim in. Apparently resourceful amphibians, they just eliminated the tadpole stage and started laying their eggs on land. Dr. Noble said it probably took a good many thousand years but they did it.

New Place To Go

Stratosphere May Be Popular Honey-moon Resort Some Day

"It is almost safe to prophesy that our children's children will spend their honeymoons in the stratosphere or their summer holidays in the ozoneosphere." This was declared by Colonel E. B. Mackintosh, director of the South Kensington (England) Science Museum while receiving the gondola of the balloon in which Professor Piccard made his second historic ascent into the stratosphere. The balloon, which has been presented to the museum, left Dübendorf Aerodrome near Zurich, and after a flight of 13 hours landed on Lake Garda. The maximum height reached was about ten and a half miles.

Africa's Oldest Empire

History Of Abyssinia Ranges Over Thousands Of Years

Harold G. S. Shepperson, F.R.G.S., wrote the following article for the Edinburgh Scotsman:

Whatever may be the fate of Abyssinia as a result of the present dispute between this age-old African Empire and Italy, some reference to its remarkable land, her history, the strange mentality of her people, and their quaint customs and ways may prove of timely interest.

Her history is an ancient story of fact, legend, and tradition, ranging over thousands of years. On one occasion her present ruler, Emperor Haile Selassie, prepared for a friend of mine a list of her rulers. It contained the names of 312 sovereigns and extended back over 8,300 years, to 4,330 B.C., or the 97th year of the creation of the world, according to Abyssinian computation. Included in this list were Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, from whose son, Menelik, the ruling house claim direct descent, which would give them a pedigree of the somewhat unusual length of 3,000 years.

Despite her long history Abyssinia, shut off from the rest of the world by towering mountains and barren deserts—"the world forgetting, by the world forgot"—her people have maintained an inviolability almost Thibetan in its character. As a result the mentality of her people, and the condition of most of the country have remained virtually unchanged during the passage of centuries. They live much as they did two thousand years ago.

True, Addis Ababa, the capital is now connected with the outside world by a railway—a single line which runs between it and Djibouti, the port of French Somaliland. This is the only means of communication in a country about twice the size of Germany, or some 350,000 square miles in extent. The trains only run by day, out of respect to the proclivities of the Danakil tribes, who commandeer the rails for spearheads and the copper telegraph wire for bait. In the wet season, moreover, travellers often spend three or four days covering the 500 miles between Djibouti and the capital owing to the permanent way being washed out by heavy rains.

The people still wear the old dress which means to have been theirs since time immemorial. This consists of a cotton shirt, trousers, and the chama, the latter being a kind of cotton wrap worn like a toga during the day and used at night for a bed covering. The costume is the same for men and women and for all classes. The method of draping the chama is indicative of the attitude of the wearer towards the person in whose presence he may be. Thus to draw it across the face would imply contempt, whilst to drop it off the shoulders and gather it round the waist is the highest form of respect.

Amongst courts of law, where a passer-by may be called upon to act as a judge, are still held at every street corner, and any trivial dispute is settled with much immoderation of title and an appalling waste of oratory. Rough-and-ready justice, according to the Moslem mode, holds the field for more serious crimes. Until recently it was quite a common sight to see half a dozen men swinging in the market place from improvised gallows or trees. Now murderers are executed in a little hut in the town, wherein they are tied to a post, rifles are trained on them through tubes in the wall, and the triggers are pulled by the relatives of the murdered man.

Very few Abyssinians outside the priesthood and the officials of Addis Ababa are able to read or write. The people as a whole are quite illiterate, and letters are not signed but sealed. The Emperor alone is entitled to place his seal at the top of his letters; everyone else's appears below the writing. It is a graceful script and a picturesque language; but, as there are 231 letters in the alphabet, besides about twenty compounds of these, Amharic is not exactly a subject that can be acquired in a week-end.

Monument To Horse

A horse's monument erected to the "Unknown War Horse" has been unveiled in the courtyard of the Francis Joseph Cavalry Barracks in Budapest, Hungary. The monument was erected on the initiative of General Stephen Morthy. After the unveiling ceremony the horses of the Regiment of Hussars quartered in the barracks filed past the statue, led by their riders.

A wreath of bananas was laid on the grave of Samuel Davenport, "banana king" of Walworth, London, when he was buried at Nunhead, England.

Household Arts

PATTERN 5255

Soft, cuddly animal toys are the favorites of nursery-age youngsters and wise is the mother who realizes how easily and cheaply such toys can be made. No need to buy new material for these; the left-over scraps of calico, chintz or other novelty cottons are adequate and so colorful. With only two simple pieces required for each toy, not counting the ears and the elephant's blanket which are to be separate, the stitching and stuffing are completed in no time at all. They watch the merriment when you bring out long-eared Peter Rabbit, the terrier that's smart as a whip, and the elephant "just like we saw at the circus!"

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the midst of a party, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get books to send her.

Nancy and Matthew Adam go Christmas shopping in a neighboring town. On their return trip, the Ridge Nelsons is amazed to see the Columbine residence all lit up, and asks Matthew if he knows why. He adds: "Let's go in and see. Then Nancy learns that she is having her debut, but in a different setting than had been planned for her in Boston.

Nancy's parents and friends gave her liberal support to her request for books, and a sizeable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adam boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable.

Jack Nelson, Matthew Adam, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthews' uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard.

Now Go On With The Story

CHAPTER XVII

The ride to Prairie Ranch had been a jolly one, and a new experience to the young Nelsons. "Uncle Tom and Aunt Emily" welcomed them warmly, and even suggested that they stay a day or two, so Mark would be able to accompany them home; but Jack demurred.

"With both Matt and Mark away, Mr. Adam needs me," he explained, "and what's more, I think we'd better start right back if we're to go alone. Soon as Mark's better, let's be glad of the chance to come and get him; but really, I'd feel easier to go back to-day."

"He's right, Matthew," commended Uncle Tom. "It's not quite fair for me to steal two of your father's sons and his hired man as well. And as Jack says, it's better for them to start soon and take their time. Run up and say a word to Mark, who two up."

while Aunt Em gets you a good lunch. You won't mind eating early after the long ride."

"I never saw my sister refuse food, early or late, side or no side," grinned Jack as they went upstairs.

They were away by noon, regretful not to stay longer with this hospitable family, but glad to think they would return so soon.

"These plains are such surprising things," said Nancy, when Prairie Ranch and its big cottonwoods were miles behind them. "From a distance they look flat as a huge billiard table."

"Who would believe that there are mesas and hills out here?" "I like the prairies better from a distance," confessed her brother. "They're so desolate and lonely when you're on 'em, Sam. Makes you feel no bigger than a mosquito, and about as important! It's great to come out here and see them; but give me the mountains as a steady diet."

The boy paused, brushing one hand against his cheek.

"Queer, but I'd swear a snowflake hit me! Why, there's another! Strange to see snow drift down this way while the sun's still shining."

"I've seen that happen several times this winter, but it never amounts to very much." Nancy peered curiously at the heavens. "Just see that cloud! Jack! How fast it's moving! I bet that's where your snowflake came from."

A worried wrinkle appeared between Jack's eyes.

"Maybe Cousin Columbine" was right, and we're in for a storm," Nancy laughed.

"Lost on the prairie in a blizzard on the twenty-sixth of March! It would be some story to tell the folks back home!"

Jack said his eyes following the cloud: "Don't tempt Providence, Sam! That cloud is turning ink; and blizzards on these plains are something awful, they come so suddenly. Mr. Adam told me about a time—"

A gust of wind was on them before Jack finished speaking. Big balls of tumbled snow scurried across the prairie; and clouds of dust obliterated the road.

"Perhaps we'd better turn and go back," suggested Nancy, ducking her head against the particles of dust.

"Cousin Columbine insisted we mustn't start in any sort of storm, you know, and—" (her voice rose in alarm) "and it's really howling! It's beginning to snow hard!"

The boy leaned forward, scanning a sky that grew darker with incredible rapidity.

"How far back did we pass that schoolhouse?" His voice, Nancy noticed, was tense, unnatural. "I don't want to scare you, Sam. How fast it's had to me. If we could reach the school I'd take a chance at waiting there until the worst is over. What do you say?"

"I say we keep right on to the first ranch. That school was six or eight miles back; and when we passed I noticed particularly that the bus had left. Perhaps they closed at noon to-day."

A stinging flurry of snow was on them now, cutting across their faces like a whip. For a moment it took Jack's breath away; then he replied: "I guess you're right. There was a ranch somewhere along here. I remember seeing the gate and mail box. Help me into this jacket, will you? I don't want to stop the car. Gosh! Nancy, we've headed straight into the storm. That's it!" (as she struggled to get his arm into a sleeve), "don't bother about the other. Get into your own coat quick—or we'll be round here in half an hour!"

"Are there any side curtains in this old car?" cried Nancy as they started on after a short delay. Jack shook his head as he bent tensely above the wheel.

"Darned if I know; and you couldn't put 'em on in this wind anyway. Keep your eyes peeled for that mail box, Nancy. We mustn't miss it. We can't miss it. Do you understand?"

Nancy understood only too well. There followed a mile or so when neither spoke. Twice Jack got out to wipe the glass, while his sister, staring into the wind-swept space, fought terror. Snow was descending fast and furiously now. Indeed, as they kept on doggedly it seemed incredible that this was the same bare road they had traversed so short a time before with friendly sunlight dappling the plains on every side. It might, thought Nancy, have been snowing here for hours and hours. Could it be possible that they were off the road? Straining her eyes into the drifting white, watching in desperation for the wayside mail box, visions of frozen cattle rose up before her, and the girls heart thudded.

At last Jack said, not looking at his sister: "We've missed that ranch, Nancy. It can't have been as far as this. What say we turn back now and try to reach the schoolhouse? The wind would be behind us as we go; and as I can't see four feet ahead of me it looks to me as if our best chance was to—"

The words were silenced by a cry from Nancy, a cry of warning that came too late. Jack jammed on the brakes so suddenly that his sister was thrown forward against the windshield just as the car collided with the engine of a big heavy bus, which stood, its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully as it extended crassly across the road.

CHAPTER XVIII

As Nancy righted herself again, her eyes met Jack's, a glance of stark despair passing between them. "I'm afraid that crash has finished this old car," he told her; then added: "Why, Nancy, I think that bus is full of children!"

"Hi, there!" came a voice almost at his elbow. "Had a smash-up, didn't you? Did you meet Clem?" Jack turned to see a boy of perhaps eleven, standing amid the swirling snow.

"Skip back into that bus, kid," he shouted, "we're coming too!"

He was already out, stretching a helping hand to Nancy, and together they fought their way to the door of the stalled bus, the youngster calling over his shoulder: "Watch where you go there! Don't step into that deep rut! Miss—your mother jump?" Then as the door flew open to admit them and Nancy, exhausted, sank into the nearest seat, he continued with a captivated grin: "We got company, kids. These folks are chattering at this station. Say" (turning to Jack), "did Clem Johnson send you after us?"

Jack shook his head, and glancing about the bus, inquired: "Is he your driver?"

"Just for to-day. Our regular driver's sick," explained the boy. "Come down with an awful pain when he was sweeping out the bus this morning, and his wife got Clem to drive us. Teacher closed school early because there's some sort of convention in Denver to-morrow, and she wanted to take a train this afternoon. The storm came awful sudden, after we left; and when we got this far Clem said we'd better get back to Bartlett's ranch fast."

"We could," "That's more a few miles east of us; but when he tried to turn, the wheels went into that gully and something broke. Clem worked for a long time and couldn't fix it."

"So he went for help?"

"That's it. He thought he'd get there early, but the wind got something fierce after he left. We told him not to go, but he said we'd freeze to death out here and 'twas up to him to get us somewhere safe. He's been gone a terrible long time though. Say, what's your name?"

"Jack Nelson; and this is my sister Nancy. What's yours?"

"Tom Osgood. I'm the oldest feller here; but two of the girls are older'n me. What do you s'pose broke of Clem? He ought to be here."

At the front of the bus two children began to cry; and looking about at all those helpless youngsters, Nancy forgot herself. There must be fifteen of them; and two lovely little girls, obviously twins, ten or eight, were only sweaters over summer dresses. How cold they must be!

"Look here," she said, rising to speak quietly, "those poor kiddies are getting frightened. We must comfort them. Jack—play games of some sort—keep them moving as much as possible in this crowded place. Why, I'm cold already even with this coat, and not one of those children is dressed as warmly! Let's start romping soon as I put my sweater on one of those little girls."

This worked for a time, and the smallest children, not realizing their plight, laughed with delight at the games Nancy invented. The older ones, however, grew noticeably quiet as time passed, trying to peer out of the snow-covered windows, and speaking together in low voices.

At last Jack and Tom Osgood started some wrestling matches at the rear of the bus; while the older girls roused themselves in an effort to keep the others occupied. They danced, jumped up and down, and did gymnastics; but despite this exercise they were growing colder every minute, and when during some roughhouse, a small boy's elbow went through a pane of glass, a cry of dismay rose from one and all.

It was then that Tom Osgood had an inspiration. Stored under the back seat and carried for just such emergencies, were canned food and a small, portable stove.

"I'll say we were pretty dumb not to think of 'em before," he observed disgustedly, "but we've never had a chance to use 'em, and I guess every one forgot." He had been rummaging about on his hands and knees, and now stood up, a bewildered expression on his manly little face. "Why they're not here! Not anywhere! We've always carried 'em, and extra blankets too. Say! I bet I know what happened. Joe took 'em out when he cleaned the bus this morning, and forgot to put 'em back when he had that pain. He always sets 'em in the harness closet out of the dust; and maybe Clem s'posed they were right here, or p'raps he didn't know they'd ought to be here. Gosh! I'm hungry, and some of that canned soup would have tasted good."

There followed another fruitless search, the children watching with strained, unchildlike faces. "Don't cry, kiddie," said Jack, as a small girl burst into frightened tears. "I'm hungry, and some of that out of this milk can. We'll soon be opening windows to cool off!" Nancy forced a smile at her brother's attempt at cheer, and lifting the crying child onto her lap, wrapped her coat about the small, cold legs. The bus was shaking with each gust of wind, and though every window was thick with frost, she knew the storm had increased in fury.

One Business Booming

Firm in England Swamped With Orders For Jew's Harps

"Industrial Britain" informs us that Birmingham, the only city in the world where Jew's Harps are manufactured, is experiencing such a boom in this respect that prospective players all over the world, especially in America, are obliged to await delivery. The delay is due to a lack of skilled tongue setters, who have to be trained for several years before they are proficient. The setters are responsible for the adjustment of the metal strip that vibrates to produce the sound, and if this strip is the least fraction of an inch out of adjustment the tone of the harp is ruined. One firm in Birmingham is producing 100,000 harps a week, and has enough orders in hand to keep the factory busy for three months. The head of this firm has just returned from a business trip in the United States, where Jew's harp bands are popular, with one order for nearly 150,000 instruments.—Brookville Recorder and Times.

Would Join British Empire

You have heard of districts in Europe inhabited by Germans who want to join Germany. There is also one country in Europe where people want to join Britain, though they are not British. In five years Iceland will be a part of the British Empire. The government's present association with Denmark. A large and increasing element wants to seek admission to the British Empire. It will not happen, of course. But how significant that it should be suggested.—London Sunday Express.

A Rare Instrument

Mathematical Rod Invented In The Year 1617

One sees queer things in the advertisement columns of the London newspapers as being for sale. Some of these are simple, some are mystifying. In the latter category most people placed an item which appeared the other day. The advertiser announced that he wanted to sell a set of "Napier's Bones."

No doubt to the mind's eye of the majority of folk who read it there appeared a vision of a wired skeleton such as anatomical museums and medical textbooks show. Or the remains of some famous Napier or other which had been preserved something like those of Jeremy Bentham, now in a great London hospital. But only the mathematicians (and not all of them) might be expected to know anything of Napier and his bones.

The bones are a set of small rods inscribed with figures. By means of these things multiplication, division and all sorts of mathematical gymnastics may be performed by the initiate. "The method of using them was invented, and explained in a treatise, by John Napier, of Edinburgh, in the year 1617, and they came to be known as "Napier's Bones." Very few sets are known to be in existence.—Vancouver Province.

International Tourist Bureau

Plan To Link Up Two Provinces And Two States

A proposal to link sections of two provinces and two states into an organization publicizing tourist attractions of the areas was made by G. F. C. Pousette, head of the Winnipeg Tourist and Convention Bureau.

Following Pousette's suggestion before a meeting of civic groups at Detroit, Mich., a committee was appointed to investigate the plan that would organize northwestern Ontario, Manitoba, eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota into a tourist association. The plan would be designated as the "circle tour" and would extend from Winnipeg to Kenora, Ont., to Fort Frances, Ont., through north-eastern Minnesota to Detroit Lakes, Alexandria, the Twin Cities, Fargo, N.D., and on north to Grand Forks, Crookston, and back to Winnipeg.

Some Queer Laws

New York's statute books contain many don'ts. Among these are statutes prohibiting riding a bicycle with hands off the handlebars, flying kites in city streets, and firing a cannon in the city except with the mayor's permission, the cannon to be no larger than a four-pounder.

Formosa's recent earthquake was the most disastrous since the quake of 1906 which cost nearly 1,500 lives.

Little Helps For This Week

And when ye stand praying, forgive if ye have sinned against any, that your Father which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses. Mark 11:25-26.

'Tis not enough to mourn your sin.
'Tis but one step to heaven;
When you are kind to others—
then
You know yourself forgiven.

There is nothing to do with your fellow men but to love them, to contemplate their virtues with admiration, their faults with pity and forbearance, and their injuries with forgiveness. To hate your adversary will not help you; nothing within the compass of the universe will help you, but to love him. For every solitary place would be made glad if love were there, how many a dark dwelling would be full of light.

Ontario Boys Suggested Relief Board Might Purchase Rugby Balls

The rugby season is with us. In a recent week some boys at an Ontario high school wanted to practice the great autumn sport. Last year's rugby balls had disappeared. The school board had decided to re-trench and not purchase any new ones out of public funds. Some new ones were being provided out of the students' own athletic funds but they were not available.

What happened? A group of boys approached the athletic teacher to ask if a ball or two might not be secured from relief funds.

Record For Land Plane Of 347 Miles Per Hour

W. H. Hitchman, of the National Aeronautics Association, announced that the Federation of Aeronautique Internationale in Paris, will be asked to credit Howard Hughes, wealthy film producer, with a world speed record for land planes of 347 miles an hour.

This speed was attained by Hughes in a series of tests near Santa Ana, Calif., in his new 4-cylinder, 1,000 horsepower monoplane.

The present record of 343.319 miles an hour was set by Raymond Delmotte, of France, in 1934.

AMAZING STATEMENTS

Hon. William Aberhart, Alberta's social credit premier, has been back to the old home town, Seaforth, Ont., during the course of a borrowing mission to Ottawa.

Press dispatches quote Mr. Aberhart as having made some amazing statements regarding conditions in this Western province; statements which many Albertans will wish to see proven or repudiated by the social credit leader. For instance, Aberhart is quoted as telling Ontarians that: "There are children in Alberta who have not tasted butter or milk in the last three years, although they live on farms. Their fathers have to sell the milk the cows produce to live."

"Children are crying for food out in Alberta tonight. The boys and girls are hungry and they are your neighbors."

"In Alberta they cannot buy cars or gasoline."

"We have an abundance of wheat, coal and natural gas and yet people are starving because we cannot sell them."

The Hanna Herald is published within the boundaries of that section of Alberta which is popularly termed the "drouth area." This section, it is widely proclaimed, is one of the most unfortunate of Alberta's agricultural areas. Crop failures have sorely tried our people during the past several years. Times have been tough, but

Mr. Aberhart's astounding assertions cannot truthfully be applied to this area. Where, then, in the more favored sections of Alberta can the premier's statements be proven well founded?

Alberta's premier is a publicity stunter of doubtful value. He is putting this province on the front pages of the world's press. But, "Truth in Advertising" is still recognized as a prime necessity by reputable advertisers who develop confidence.—Hanna Herald.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

One of the most prolific outlaws seeking free publicity is the new Reconstruction party. Every day a batch of stuff arrives from "somewhere in Ontario" asking us to "please publish this in the interests of economy, etc., etc." In the interests of economy in our own office we are relegating it to the waste basket where it belongs. They pay the man who writes the stuff, they pay for the paper it is written on, the machine used to type it, the postage and envelopes, rent for the office they use, yet these fly-by-night political parties have the nerve to ask the country printers to let them Shave the use of the whole printing plant, staff and all, free of charge, and then give them a kick in the pants and chortle over their victory if they win. And a lot of them fall for it. The defunct Reid government ran them a close second. They had a paid publicity bureau sending out reams of "free" copy each week to the weekly newspapers asking for free space. Then the U.F.A. candidates in the recent election "pointed with pride" to the small amount they had appropriated for advertising, much of which went to the U.F.A. weekly. And on top of that the Reid government passed laws to muzzle press. Can you beat it?—Ex.

NEW FILMS ON ALBERTA

New national parks films for public showing have been added this week to the film library of the provincial publicity bureau, under the co-operative arrangement with the national parks department at Ottawa. Among them are included a number of films taken in Alberta last fall by the national parks department movie camera men. One of the films is entitled "Stalking Big Game," showing movies of the wild animal life in Jasper Park. Another film is "The Trail to Jasper," showing views of Edmonton and the trip to Jasper Park and scenes in the park. A third is a new film on Waterton National Park, and a fourth is a Skiing film taken at Lake Louise. The provincial bureau now has a library of some 23 films.

As he sat at the table about 8.30 on Tuesday evening, a mysterious bullet crashing through the window of their home ten miles west of Kananaskis, Alberta, near Edmonton, took the life of Nick Mykiforuk. A similar shooting took place in the Myrland district last January when Alex Smolick met his death, under similar circumstances and for which John Skrat, 26-year-old farm hand, was convicted and hanged at Fort Saskatchewan.

A memorial was unveiled in Burnside cemetery, Calgary, on September 15th, for Inspector Joseph Carzburgh, of the Calgary police force, who was killed by an unknown prowler on the night of June 13th, 1933. The ceremony was attended by members of the Calgary police force, representatives of the R. C.M.P., the militia, city council and citizens. The unveiling ceremony was performed by Bishop L. Ralph Sherman.

The waiter smilingly shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, that's quite all right sir," he replied. "We'll just get you to write your name on the wall, and you can pay the next time you come in."

The diner gasped. "What!" he cried. "Write my name on the wall? Why, all my friends will see it when they come in. I couldn't possibly do that."

"Oh, but they won't see it," said the waiter. "You see, your overcoat will cover it."

B.E.S.L. WHIZ BANGS

With summer gone, September usually witnesses the renewal of activities in organizations such as the Legion, lodges, church clubs, masculine and feminine gender, and so on. Having this in mind might we be permitted to prepare the busy business man's calendar for the "club" year:

September—Too busy with fall work—tired at night. Will start next month.

October—Busier still, will stay at home and listen to radio election speeches if they are not too nerve racking. Will clean things up and be ready for next month.

November—Getting ready for the Christmas season, the odd bridge party, also. Can't make it this month.

December—By a remarkable coincidence, it is now a month nearer Christmas, not mathematically, of course. Will remember to make a solemn resolution on 1st January to attend all Legion meetings, club, lodge, church, and what have you.

January—Christmas and New Year festivities were more strenuous than anticipated. Will stay home and rest up, and besides, both the barometer and the good wife point to "stormy" this month.

February—In strict training for annual bonspiel. Sincerely regret we have no time to spend at meetings other than at the rink.

March—After careful and mature consideration, we decided a "clique" is running the organization. That's our reason for non-attendance all winter. Oh, well, we'll pay our dues and next year we'll make sure they elect the right kind of officers.—E.S.

POOR SPORTSMAN—

SHIP SHOOTING "TAME" WILD DUCKS

Editor Blairmore Enterprise:

Dear Sir—I know so many men in Blairmore who are gentlemen and good sportsmen that I am sorry to have to complain of one or two from your town who are neither one or the other.

We have a small lake close to the house. It is used, in fact, as our farm-yard pond. A pair of wild ducks raise a brood on it every year, and they are just about as domesticated as tame ducks. We have two big notices on the fence to prevent shooting, yet one evening last week, the manager of one of your stores and another young fellow climbed over the fence and took shots at the ducks. When I ascended them, they said they did not see the notices (which was very improbable); but even if they didn't, the gentlemanly course would have been to ask permission, especially as the house is right on the spot.

A coincidence is that an employee of the same store did the same thing two years ago.

I do not mind anyone shooting partridge on the 300 acres away from the house, but I do resent the cheek of people shooting right at one's farmstead.

Yours truly,
W. D. McDOWALL,
Beaver Mines.

SAVE THE EDITOR

Here is at least one minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editorial convention, a Kansas minister is reported to have offered the following list:

"To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly."

"To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally."

"To save him from despair, send him every item of news you can get hold of."

"To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible."

"To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."—Wisconsin Press.

KNEW VERY LITTLE ENGLISH

A good story concerns Herr Remarque, the author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," and a pretty Canadian girl to whom he was introduced in Berlin.

The Canadian, speaking in German, asked Remarque why he had never visited Canada. His answer was that he knew only a few sentences in English.

"What are the sentences?" inquired the girl.

Whereupon Remarque, speaking slowly in somewhat guttural English, said: "How do you do. I love you! Forgive me! Forget me! Ham and eggs, please!"

"Sakes alive!" ejaculated the girl. "Why, with that vocabulary you could tour my country from Halifax to Vancouver."

A farmer visited his son's college, and watching students in a chemical class, he was told they were looking for a universal solvent. "What's that," he asked.

Professor: "A liquid that will dissolve anything."

Farmer: "That's a great idea. When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

The devil who used it,
The comp who got at it when these two were gone;
The makeup and foreman,
The editor (poor man),
All rubbed some grime off for the heap they put on.

In, over and under
Twas blacker than thunder;
Twas harder than poverty, rougher than sin.

From the roller suspended,

Thoughts
and Things

The business of living, when boiled down and all the froth skimmed off, is just a matter of thinking.

Each of us is continually thinking ideas of our own and swapping them for the ideas of others. If there is a famine of outside ideas we shrivel up ourselves. Children with "nobody to play with" are unhappy and unmanageable.

From thinking with our heads to doing with our hands is but a little step and then our thoughts become things.

The originator of an idea is not much better off than before he originated it till he gets some one else to absorb it and enjoy it and benefit by it.

The man or woman surrounded by better thoughts and things but who pays not the slightest attention to them is not much better off than the one with "nobody to play with."

The advertisements in real newspapers are thoughts—telling you about the things that other men and women have created for your use. Read the ads. They are the voices from hundreds of thousands of looms, shops, foundries, studios, laboratories, where millions of minds are turning pleasant thoughts into worth-while things for you and your family.

Threshing was held up the latter part of the week on account of rainy weather.

Frost has kept away remarkably well this fall. Many flower gardens are still gay with blossoms.

PRIME MINISTER CO-OPERATES

The Prime Minister, Hon. R. B. Bennett, did not speak in Edmonton last night, as scheduled, the reason given that he did not wish to clash with the leader of the Liberal party, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, who was also booked for Edmonton last night.

Social Credit will spread like wildfire over the whole of Canada, and over the whole world, if Premier Aberhart can make his scheme work in Alberta, declared the Liberal leader, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in a recent speech. There is no need of a Social Credit party in federal politics, he declares, for if the Alberta experiment is a success, every political party in Canada will eventually adopt the new doctrines.

GOOD LOSERS

A merchant in a small town ran for office, and was overwhelmingly defeated. He polled so few votes that he appeared ridiculous in the eyes of his neighbors, and both his social and business standing were in danger. It's hard to be laughed at, and still hold your ground.

But this merchant was a good sport.

What is more, he knew the perils of becoming the town joke. So he beat the town to it! The morning after the election he put this sign in his window: "$35 reward for the name of the man who cast that vote for me."

Everybody saw it, and everybody laughed. But they laughed with him, and not at him. People came to his store to shake hands and congratulate him on his sense of humor and sportsmanship. The story of the sign went the rounds of the country, and farmers began to drop into his store to trade. Thus the merchant turned defeat into a personal triumph by proving that he was the town's best loser—Edgar A. Guest in The American Magazine.

Big Sister: "Jimmy, Aunt Becky will never kiss you with that dirty face."

Jimmy: "That's what I figured."

Guest: "I'm just crazy over your wife, Sandy, and if you'll let me have her, I'll pay you her weight in gold."

Sandy: "Let me have a few days first."

Guest: "To think it over?"

Sandy: "No, to fatten her up a bit."

Maid: "I'm afraid the doctor's out. Is there anything I can tell him?"

Local Organizer: "Oh, I only wanted to tell him I've got a gymkhana coming off, and I wondered if he could do anything for me."

Maid: "I should think so; but, in any case, you wouldn't do it any harm by putting a poultice on it till he comes back."

PLAN TO HOLD PREMIER HOSTAGE IS REVEALED

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 22.—Behind the recent march on Ottawa of relief camp strikers and sympathisers lay a plan to hold the prime minister of Canada as a hostage while a Soviet government was being established in the Dominion, Premier Bennett revealed in an address here. This, he said, had been learned by the government, which, he declared, stood for law and order, liberty and freedom, but not for license. When men tried to overthrow constitutional authority by force, they must be stopped. The premier lashed out at the Communists of Moscow and their emissaries, declaring his party would "never pander to any lawless organization to secure votes;" and further that "Canadians would never tolerate interference from the outside."

"The best example of freedom of thought and action enjoyed by the people of Canada was the candidature of Tim Buck. I ask you," Mr. Bennett said, "if you know any greater freedom than that which permits a man on parole to offer for parliament?"

The World In Danger

As week succeeds week the possibilities of war between Italy and Ethiopia grow nearer to certitude and the situation becomes fraught with alarming menace, not merely to the two countries involved but to other countries and possibly the whole civilized world.

With the Italian representatives rejecting, one after another, proposals which are being made almost daily by committees of the League of Nations and interested powers in the hope of averting an outbreak of hostilities, and Emperor Haile Selassie refusing to accept any compromise which would result in the surrender of the independence of his kingdom, the situation becomes more and more gloomy, and the gloom deepens with the active preparations which are being made by Mussolini and the belligerence with which he is whipping his countrymen into a warlike attitude.

Statements of the leading nations of the world and international authorities appear to be in complete accord with the general consensus of world opinion that such a conflict would not be confined to Italy and Ethiopia, but that other nations would be dragged into the fray and that it is even likely to lead to a general conflagration which would result in misery and suffering to millions and loss of life and property on an even greater scale than the Great War of 1914-18.

Indeed, there are authorities who see in the present situation a potential destruction of civilization itself. This view is supported by the Committee on International Law of the Canadian Bar Association, which in a report to the Canadian Bar Association convention in Winnipeg recently spoke of "the consequences to the world and Canada of an actual resort to arms" as probably "catastrophic in the sense that it may include the destruction or profound modification of many of the institutions upon which civilization is based."

Again in the same report, the committee dealt with the conduct of Italy as indicating that government's unwillingness to accept decisions of the Council of the League of Nations, of which she is a member, in the following words:

"If that attitude persists the world may be faced with a complete breakdown of the system of public international order which was supposed to have been permanently established by the sacrifices of the years 1914 to 1918.

"The question is whether or not the peoples of the world will permit this by failure to agree on united action or whether, by united action, they will, as they undoubtedly can, insist upon the observance of the public law upon which the continuance of our present civilization may depend."

The statement that the peoples of the world can avoid this catastrophe by united action refers to the powers which the member countries of the League vested in themselves when they approved Article 16 of the covenants, to which all members have subscribed, agreeing to impose financial and economic sanctions as a punitive measure against any member who breaks the covenants and commits an act of aggression against any other country.

In view of the menace of the situation the importance of these powers become paramount. They are contained in the first and third paragraphs of Article 16 and read as follows:

"1. Should any Member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants under Articles 12, 13 and 15, it shall, ipso facto, be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking State, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking State and the nationals of any other State, who are Members of the League or not."

"3. The Members of the League agree, further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this Article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures, and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by the covenant-breaking State, and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage through territory to the forces of any Members of the League which are co-operating to protect the covenants of the League."

It is not perhaps generally known that the onus of deciding whether an act of aggression or incident is to be construed as "an act of war" within the meaning of the covenants is left with each individual member to decide. A clause was drafted some years ago vesting the decision with the Council but this has never been ratified by the League.

However, once a member has decided that some act or incident is an "act of war" it has no alternative, under the covenants, but to proceed with the measures outlined in Article 16. Otherwise, that country has itself violated the covenants.

With the onus of interpretation of an "act of war" left upon each individual member, the importance of the general public being fully posted on events as they transpire, can readily be understood, as in the final analysis, it is the people of each country involved who are in the position by their influence, to decide what part their country shall play in the efforts to avert a major catastrophe.

Huge Boulder Slide

500 Tons of Rock Breaks Loose At Niagara Falls.

With an thundering roar, 500 tons of rock broke loose from the cliff on the American side below the lower bridge at Niagara Falls, at a point where 200 tons fell last April.

Huge boulders and shale were piled high on the tracks of the International Railway gorge line, and traffic was suspended. The railway tracks were lifted from the roadbed and pushed to the brink of the gorge. One pole carrying power lines was moved by the avalanche of rock and sand.

Officials stated it would take considerable time to clear the railway track of the present fall.

Northwest Territories Good Breeding Place States U.S. Biologist

Completing a two-month survey of nesting places of migratory waterfowl in the Northwest Territories and northern Alberta, L. J. Gillman and C. E. Gillman of the United States biological survey, Washington, D.C., arrived at Edmonton by aeroplane from Fort Resolution.

Mr. Gillman, who lives at Albuquerque, N.M., expressed himself as very favorably impressed with the extent and possibilities of the north country as a breeding area for waterfowl, but explained he was unable to release the result of his survey until he had reported to his government.

Nesting places of duck and geese on the various lakes as far north as Fort Resolution were surveyed.

Women Like Combines

We'll wager the farmers' wives are glad that threshing is over. At the Jess Denton farm in Alma, Kansas, there were 31 men for dinner and 27 for supper, while at another farm near, where one of the big combines was used, three men harvested 165 acres in a day. That is one place where the machine lessens the work for the women.

A Great Astronomer

Dr. Anna Cannon Has Classified Over 400,000 Stars

This astronomy is not so exact a science that the average man would not be interested were information readily available, is the opinion of Dr. Anne J. Cannon, of Harvard, who was in Toronto as a delegate to the American Astronomical Society's convention.

For 50 years Dr. Cannon has been gazing through telescopes and the mystery of the heavens has as great a thrill for her as ever. Dr. Cannon is the most famous woman astronomer in the world, and she has shared with Madame Curie of France and other equally famous the honor of receiving the Eille Richards' prize for outstanding work by women in research.

She was the last recipient of the prize, which was founded to encourage women to study science. But because it was felt women no longer needed encouragement to enter, it was discontinued. Dr. Cannon has continued it, however, for women in astronomy. It is called after her now and it goes to women astronomers.

The prize was given Dr. Cannon for classification of stars according to their spectra. She has classified over 400,000. Harvard is now a mecca for astronomers all over the world who seek astronomical observations of spectra.

An Intricate Problem

Joining Of Steel Plates On Liner Queen Mary Requires Study

Construction of the new Cunard White Star super liner Queen Mary has been complicated by reason of the fact that no two of her steel plates are exactly the same, according to reports from the shipyard at Clydebank. Most of the plates are curved, and many of them are more than 36 feet long, 6 feet wide and more than an inch thick. Few are really flat.

The joining of the plate so that each rivet hole pairs exactly with the corresponding hole is an intricate problem, and more than 10,000,000 such pairs of holes must be made. Each plate must overlap at least six others adjoining it, creating a problem of arrangement that has required the study of a large engineering staff.

A large half-model of the ship has been laid out on a loft floor at the shipyard, furnishing an accurate picture of the successive rows of plates and a laboratory for the study of the details of construction which are carried out on a larger scale on the ship itself.—New York Times.

Greatest Russian Scientist

Has Done Much To Extend Study Of Nervous System

Both Tsarist and Bolshevik Governments have delighted to honor the great Russian scientist, Prof. Ivan Pavlov, says the News of the World. No one living has done more to extend the study of the nervous system of men and animals, and particularly knowledge of the connection between brain and digestion. He was awarded the Nobel Prize for his work as long ago as 1904. Last year, when he was 85, the Soviet Government spent £10,000 on equipping a laboratory for him. It now pays the old man, who was the son of a poor village priest, £2,000 a year, and according to H. C. Wells, he is the only man who dare answer Stalin back.

New Variety Of Dahlia

A Siamese-twin dahlia, which may be the forerunner of a new variety of this autumn flower, was displayed at Victoria recently. The fringed bloom was grown by Mrs. W. G. Gordon of Sooke, B.C. It is two flowers joined together at the calyx. The dahlia is of the pom-pom variety and the back-to-back flowers almost form a solid ball of pink petals. Plant experts termed it a queer aberration of nature.

Gas Test Well

Great Activity Shown In Hudson Bay Junction Territory

Amalgamated Oil Ltd., brought in the fourth gas test well on the Kakwa structure recently. The flow was encountered at 275 feet, the same level at which gas was found in other wells, says a report from Hudson Bay Junction.

The four holes have been drilled largely with a view to securing geological data on the structure, which is very large. A test for oil somewhere in the Pieville hills is now considered justified. It was stated unofficially that the Senator Oil and Gas Development Company, Ottawa, intended shipping a rig to Hudson Bay Junction and drilling for oil on the structure where the Trail Blazer Company put down a hole last year. This structure is near Hudson Bay Junction and quite distinct from the Kakwa structure, 25 miles distant.

Rare Animal From Africa

Okapi In London Zoo Looks Like Miniature Giraffe

Leo, the Okapi, one of the rarest animals in the world, has taken a prominent place in London Zoo Society.

Leo comes from Africa and is the talk of the town. An Okapi (Okapi, with the accent on the second syllable), includes in equal proportions the characteristics of the giraffe, the deer and the zebra. He looks like a miniature giraffe.

One of the shiest of animals, the Okapi has been hunted almost to the point of extinction by the pigmies of the Luri forest with their deadly blow-guns.

Hurts Coal Industry

Bitter Complaint Against Natural Gas Competition In Alberta

Use of natural gas in Edmonton last year deprived mines of a market for $50,000 tons of coal, Sir Montague Barlow, eminent British authority on collieries, was told as he opened his investigation of Alberta's coal industry. Bitter complaint against natural gas competition was voiced by Mayne Reid, dressed for 10 years as a coal miner. Reid also informed Sir Montague that truck and bus competition to railways has reduced the market for steam coal.

LITTLE DAUGHTER FOLLOWS "SUIT" BECAUSE MUMMY HAS DECIDED IT'S A SUIT SEASON

By Ellen Worth

Here she is showing just how attractive and practical her new model can be. Originally it was carried out in lightweight woolen in red and brown mixture. The boy jacket was plain brown wool. The jacket has enough warmth for fall days. And another good thing about it is that it gives extra warmth for winter days.

Wool jersey dress with the jacket of velveteen is another attractive scheme.

Style No. 675 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 1/2 yards of 5/8-inch material with 1 yard of 5/8-inch ribbon for waist.

Somnolence Like Good Scheme

Husbands Left Alone During Holiday Will Be Looked After

A scheme is being cooked at Old London to meet the needs of that unfortunate section of humanity—the husbands whose better halves have gone on ahead on their holidays, or who are staying another fortnight longer. Most husbands have this experience now and again. They fix up meals, somehow, make the bed just before friend wife comes back, and use up all the socks in the drawer pending her return to darn them.

The idea is that if catering firm will provide breakfast and evening dinner, put it in the refrigerator overnight, charging so much a week for the service. Hubby just leaves a note suggesting what he would like and the thing is done. Thermos containers will keep the food warm. And what's more the company will do the dish washing.

Another branch of the service is valeting. Socks are to be left in a bag, collected, and returned next day, washed and mended.

Perhaps wifery may not like this idea. One of the greatest satisfactions she gets out of her holiday is the thought that hubby is putting up with so much discomfort that he will realize how much he depends upon her and will appreciate her all the more when she comes back.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Land Has Disappeared

No Trace Can Be Found Of Property In Esquimaut

H. Seller of San Francisco was surprised recently to find a lot on which he had been paying taxes for over 50 years had disappeared.

Seller went to Victoria, B.C., to secure a title to a piece of property in Esquimaut, left to him by his father. He visited the land registry office and real estate operators both there and in Esquimaut, but could find no trace of the property.

His father came to the coast about 60 years ago, and, becoming interested in Victoria real estate, purchased the land which he left to his son on his death. The son was advised to take the property as a drydock was to be built at Esquimaut which would increase its value. He let the land go at a tax sale and bought it back again.

The only explanation he can give now is that the property must be under water. It is said the matter was settled by the payment by the municipality of the amount paid for the land by Sellers at the tax sale.

Huge Cliff Demolished

Blasting In Scotland Dislodges Million Tons Of Granite

One of the greatest blasting operations in Scotland was successful recently when a granite cliff 500 feet high and stretching 400 feet across the face of Ben Durnish, near Bonawe, was "demolished" by gunpowder. A signal was flagged from a tiny island in Loch Etive. At this a man crouching on the mainland, under a protective rock ledge in a forest 500 yards away, pushed down the lever of a dynamo, and the cliff tumbled into a myriad fragments.

Powder fumes and granite dust rose in a cloud 2,000 feet high. In that blast, which was a crowning triumph for men who had planned for the last four years to destroy the cliff, and by the touch of a lever there had been gained for industry 1,000,000 tons of granite. The success of the blasting, which cost $20,000 to carry out, means that 400 quarries will be given work for six years.

Advice For Everyone

Doctor Says People With Colds Should Be Isolated

If you have a cold, go home and isolate yourself. This is the advice of Dr. Gordon F. Jackson, M.D., of Toronto, who remarks that people do not consider colds with sufficient seriousness. The common cold, he points out, is responsible for greater financial loss to business than any other single disease.

"The common cold is highly communicable," he says. "And the change from the nice weather to the cold nights we now have, lowers the average individual's resistance."

Dropped From The Sky

Massed Landing Of Troops Practised In Military Manoeuvres

Soviet military strategists dropped an army from the sky recently as they practised their latest war manoeuvres—mass landing of fully-equipped troops with parachutes. Bearing rifles and sub-machine guns, the jumpers landed behind "enemy" lines, formed ranks quickly and "hore" down upon an opposing airborne.

Whole regiments, landing from the skies, succeeded in capturing the airbase, but later came to theoretical grief. When they used the airbase as a base from which to advance overland to attack the main "enemy" forces from the rear, they were met by a quickly mobilized defence force which, with the aid of tanks and armored trains, "annihilated" them.

ACUTE SITUATION IS SEEN IN NAVY MOBILIZATION

London.—A "powder keg" situation in the Mediterranean, becoming rapidly more dangerous because of Italian and British naval developments, was reported by foreign military observers.

There is purpose, they declared, behind the mobilization of the best ships, aeroplanes and troops of both countries within the Mediterranean and at its entrances.

Reuters News Agency reported an official defence proclamation at Gibraltar advised the public to lay in a supply of candles because, "in the event of certain emergencies it may prove necessary to extinguish all lights throughout Gibraltar."

The basis was being laid in the Mediterranean Sea for the most terrible naval warfare in world history. From the coast of southern England to the pirate-infested coast of China, British warships from tiny mine-laying trawlers to unsinkable floating fortresses, steamed to the ancient ocean which has been a theatre of naval warfare since the Achæans besieged Troy.

The Italian navy is massed on either side of the long peninsula that lies between the Tyrrhene and Adriatic seas and stretches down to ward Africa.

On the African and European coasts, soldiers, aeroplanes, heavy artillery are taking their position.

Because the Mediterranean is narrow and bounded by three continents, any big scale warfare would involve engines of destruction which never have been combined. Thick fleets of aeroplanes, big guns of coastal artillery, cruisers that can move at more than 40 miles an hour, anti-aircraft guns whose potency never has been tested, all would be used.

The British fleet, latest reports placed at three battleships, two battle cruisers, three aircraft carriers, nine cruisers, six submarines, 40 destroyers and a host of auxiliary units already in position at Alexandria, near the entrance to the Suez canal, or off Port Said—the entrance—Malta and Gibraltar.

Women Entering Contest

Twelve Have Already Been Nominated For Federal Campaign

Toronto.—With choice of candidates in the forthcoming Dominion general election still not completed, there are nearly as many women in the contest already as in the last four elections. Twelve women had been nominated to Sept. 18. The number is one less than the total in the elections of 1921, 1926, 1930 and 1935. It is more than double the 1930 list of women.

Women have been chosen so far in the Yukon and the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and New Brunswick. Ontario leads with six. Alberta, British Columbia and New Brunswick have one apiece. There are two candidates in Saskatchewan and Mrs. George Black, wife of the former speaker of the House of Commons, is Conservative candidate in the Yukon, a single-member constituency.

Except for Mrs. Black and Miss Macphail the women nominees represent either the C.C.F., which has named six or the Reconstruction party, whose nominations already include four women candidates.

Battered By Storm

Nova Scotia Schooner Weathers Fierce Gale Off English Coast

Plymouth, England.—Further details of the violent storm which battered the Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose were told here.

She had 10 passengers aboard at the time, including five women. Two of the women were injured. Miss M. A. Aubrey of Cowes was knocked unconscious for several hours when the racing and fishing schooner gave a sudden lurch. Mrs. Hamilton Cox, wife of an Indian army officer, received an injury to one eye.

Two of the crew, Henry Burke and Alfred Coolan, were washed overboard at the height of the storm. They owed their lives to life lines which they were hauled back on deck.

Largest Voting List

Ottawa.—Ottawa West has the largest number of voters on the list of any single federal constituency in Canada. The total is 55,727. St. James, Montreal, comes second with 54,760 and Spadina, Toronto, third with 52,126. Halifax has 50,349 on the lists but that is a two-member constituency.

Ethiopia Takes Precautions

Emperor Orders Storing Of Food Supplies For Use Of Troops

Addis Ababa.—Emperor Haile Selassie ordered precautions taken to prevent Ethiopia from starving in the event of war.

For the first time in the history of the ancient empire the government made preparations to feed troops and civilians under a systematic organization of food supplies. These supplies are claimed already sufficient to maintain the army and the population for a year's campaign.

Hitherto armies in the field lived on towns and villages, devastating crops and levying upon householders, causing famine. Foreseeing the possibility a conflict might last longer than one year, authorities purchased large supplies of corn, barley and tef, a native grain.

These supplies are being stored in subterranean depots in all provincial centres. There they are easily accessible to the army and the populace.

The public was ordered to grind cereal and hoard most of it for its own use, selling the residue to the government for a fixed rate.

The Ethiopian soldier is said to be the easiest in the world to feed. He can live and fight on a handful of grain every 24 hours which he roasts on a primitive, convex iron sheet.

Ethiopia is self-contained so far as food is concerned, authorities said, and no Italian blockade could affect it.

Bad Storm In England

Seven Persons Dead And Widespread Damage Is Reported

London.—Great Britain's worst September storm in three-quarters of a century, finally blew itself out, leaving seven persons dead, many injured and widespread material damage.

The south coast of England became a graveyard for scores of small yachts. Brighton alone reports damage of more than $15,000 and Bournemouth, where not a single beach hut was left standing, a similar sum.

Six thousand men from the post office staff worked in relays to unravel a tangle of telephone wires in southern counties, where more than 19,000 lines were out of order. Others struggled to remove fallen trees which blocked many roads.

British steamship Ma Kingley succeeded in making port at Falmouth after being washed by mountainous seas which dislodged a 40-ton locomotive from its position on the forward deck.

Three members of the crew, injured while trying to drain a 38-ton barge which had become filled with water, were removed to a hospital.

Prince Under Treatment

Recurrence Of Old Ear Trouble Not Considered

Vienna.—The Prince of Wales is receiving treatment here for an old ear trouble, with which he was troubled two years ago.

When the trouble recurred, the prince consulted three specialists. Professor Heinrich Koenig, who diagnosed it as an inflammation of the middle ear. It is neither dangerous nor painful, but the prince must pay further visits to Professor Neumann and it is hoped the ailment will respond to treatment.

His Royal Highness is holidaying on the continent. He arrived here from Geneva.

Chinese Gang Arrested

Leaders Confess Victims Killed Before Ransom Was Demanded

Tientsin, China.—The arrest of a gang of 20 Chinese on kidnapping charges led to disclosures of cruelty authorities said had seldom been equalled in the annals of crime. Bodies of 20 supposed victims were found beneath floors of houses in various parts of the city.

Leaders of the gang confessed, police said, that they had immediately strangled the victims after they were kidnapped. Ransoms were then demanded but the bodies were never returned.

New Mercantile Flag

All German Merchant Vessels Ordered To Fly Swastika

Berlin.—The order has gone out to fly the swastika from all German merchant ships, beginning at once. The order followed enactment of a new law making the swastika the German mercantile flag. At Hamburg, the officers and crew of the flagship "Hamburg" of the Hamburg-American line, enthusiastically raised the new flag on their vessel solemnly swearing "loyalty until death" to the Nazi emblem.

Churchill Port Busy

Loaded With Wheat Leopold Starts On Second Trip

Churchill, Man.—A full cargo of the West's best wheat, 325,000 bushels, was poured down the chutes into the spacious holds of the ocean steamer Leopold for her second sailing for the 1935 season from Manitoba's northern seaport.

Twenty-four days after sailing from Churchill on her first trip, loaded with wheat for Antwerp, the Leopold docked here Sept. 17th and sailed on the 19th. Antwerp again her destination.

Heavy wheat movements from Churchill are expected shortly as vessels raced towards port to load the grain. The Penang, Wentworth, Charles, and Alma Dawson were due to arrive before the end of the month. It will be the Wentworth's second trip this year.

The first new crop grain was delivered to the elevator here Sept. 16th and graded No. 1 Northern.

Refugees Are Destitute

Nearly Million In World Whose Fate Is Tragic

Geneva.—There are still nearly 1,000,000 refugees in the world—not counting thousands in North and South America and certain European countries, concerning whom no definite statistics are available.

Their fate, the political committee of the League of Nations assembly was told by Chugoski Rudolphi, Kunzlijski of Czechoslovakia, in Zurich. Twenty thousand in the neighborhood of Harbin in Manchuria alone are said to be in a state of almost complete destitution.

BRITISH ELECTIONS MAY BE DEFERRED UNTIL NEXT YEAR

London.—The Ethiopian crisis, it was reliably learned, has caused the National government to drop any idea of a general election before next spring, when it was generally expected to be held in any event.

Previously it had been considered that Prime Minister Baldwin would refer to the election when he addresses the annual convention of the Conservative party opening Oct. 4. Now it is believed the prime minister will have even more momentous matters to discuss in his first statement of policy since the situation abroad became critical.

The convention, too, contrary to usual policy, is expected to divorce itself largely from internal politics and concern itself mainly with the country's position in regard to defence, which has long been agitating Conservatives.

The Labor party, however, proposes itself to be taking no chances over a sudden election. They have already endorsed 510 candidates, leaving only 105 seats uncovered of which even Labor regards 50 as hopeless from their viewpoint.

IL DUC'S SONS LEAVE FOR AFRICA

Embarking on the motor ship "Saturnia" bound for East African service, Bruno and Vittorio, sons of Mussolini, can be seen in the white uniforms as pilot officers in the Italian Air Force, with other military celebrities. With them are General Terzani (behind), Signor Starace (centre), and Count Ciano, their brother-in-law (in front).

BACKS SANCTIONS

When Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Minister, spoke before the League of Nations Council at Geneva in favor of sanctions in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis he created a sensation. Britain already has intimated her intention to back sanctions.

Makes Formal Denial

Premier Forbes Says New Zealand Will Not Adopt Social Credit

Wellington, N.Z.—Formal denial was issued by Prime Minister G. W. Forbes of reports recently to the effect a race is in progress between the province of Alberta and New Zealand to "see which is first to adopt the Douglas credit system."

The Douglas credit theory, said the prime minister, is supported by only a very small number in New Zealand, "whose people are much too sensible to be carried away by such theories—theories that have been repudiated by all economists of repute throughout the world."

Reaping Second Crop

High River Farmers Find Grain Revived After Hail

Lethbridge, Alta.—Some farmers are viewing their neighbors' grain fields with envious eyes. Hailed out, they plowed up their fields. Neighbors did not follow suit, and in the High River district many are reaping a second crop from fields that were battered into the ground with a 100 per cent. loss in July. Yields of from 10 to 15 bushels an acre are expected from the second crop fields.

New Medical Association

Edmonton.—Delegates to the annual convention of Alberta Medical Association found their organization out of being, to become part of a national association. The new organization will be known as the Canadian Medical Association, Alberta division. Dr. D. S. MacNab, Calgary, became first president of the new association.

Atheism In Schools

Makes Charge That Communism Taught In Ontario Schools

Calgary.—The charge that atheism and Communism were being taught to children in Ontario schools was made here by R. A. Hiltz, of Toronto, general secretary of the general board of religious education, in his report to delegates at the annual meeting of the executive council of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada.

In his report on religious education in public schools, Mr. Hiltz called attention "to a report made recently by a school inspector in Ontario in which he stated definitely that atheism and Communism were being taught to the children in at least one of the schools in his inspectorate."

"Sufficient evidence is available," Mr. Hiltz said the inspector reported, "to show that a Communicative organization has set up a Young Pioneer Club in this school."

"Through this club the children are taught that there is no God and that the Bible is false. They are also taught that neither loyalty nor respect is due British institutions."

May Choose Edinburgh

Wedding Of King's Son In St. Giles Cathedral, Peter No. 1

London.—A report the king's third son, the Duke of Gloucester, and his fiancée, Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott would be married in Westminster Abbey, appeared in the Manchester Guardian. Informed circles took this with reserve. It is understood the king and queen and the bride's parents are considering the propriety of a wedding in St. Giles' cathedral at Edinburgh. The bride's family—the Duke and Duchess of Buccleugh and Queensberry—being so prominent in Scottish life.

In any event the ceremony is expected to take place before Christmas.

Set Price For 1934 Wheat

Will Receive Same Price As For New Crop

Winnipeg.—Farmers still holding wheat grown in 1934 will receive the same price for it from the Canadian wheat board for the 1935 crop it was announced here.

This means a price of 87½ cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat, "Fort William basis," whether it is stored in elevators or held on farms, as long as it is owned by the producers. The date on which the board will start purchasing is to be announced shortly.

ITALY IS TAKING STEPS TO RAISE FUNDS FOR WAR

Rome.—The Italian government indicated its probable rejection of a League of Nations compromise with Ethiopia, reorganized its tax program to provide for war, and shifted thousands of troops into Libya because of a threatening attitude on the part of tribesmen.

Premier Mussolini presided in person over a cabinet meeting which passed sweeping provisions "designed in part to furnish means for facing the expense necessary for the defence of East African colonies." A great national loan was approved.

Assignment of troops to Libya, Italy's north African colony which is governed by Gen. Italo Balbo, resulted from what was described as a concentration of armed Senusite tribesmen on the frontier of Egypt and Libya.

The cabinet approved the issuance of a national loan which is to be written "in the great book of public debts."

The holders of government 3½ per cent. bonds which now are quoted below 70 may exchange them for the new bonds at 80.

The cabinet declares: "These sacrifices, which were too heavy in the conditions in which the national economy found itself a year ago, can be demanded in the present condition of diminished unemployment, the boom in industrial and commercial activity, and of the better situation in agriculture through the abundance of crops and the higher level of prices."

In financial circles it was stated the war loan would run to many billions of lire. (The lire is worth about eight cents.)

The cabinet authorized the expenditure of 337,000,000 lire by the navy for the construction and fitting out of reservoirs for the navy, in still another effort to make Italy self-sufficient.

PLAN INCREASE OF WORLD FOOD CONSUMPTION

Geneva.—Australia submitted to the second committee of the League of Nations assembly a proposal to increase the world consumption of essential foodstuffs, and immediately received British support.

The gist of the proposal is that at present few occidental nations can show that less than 20 per cent. of their populations are suffering to some degree from the effects of malnutrition. By measures to stimulate their consumption of milk and dairy products, fruit and vegetables, and eggs, public health would be improved and a new outlet would be found for the large food-exporting countries, while at the same time local agriculture would not suffer.

Stanley Bruce, Australian delegate, argued standards of living far in advance of those now enjoyed are possible. Increased consumption of certain foodstuffs would mean a great improvement in national health and efficiency, while the incidence of such diseases as tuberculosis would be greatly reduced.

"In a poverty-stricken world increased consumption is the only sound way to utilize progress of science. Providing we are determined to increase consumption and work resolutely to that end, we can find the means whereby it can be achieved."

He proposed appointment of a committee of agricultural, economic and health experts to inquire into the idea and report to the next meeting of the league assembly.

Lord De La Warr, parliamentary secretary to the British ministry of agriculture, supported the proposal. The problem of poverty in the midst of plenty was a challenge to statesmanship, he said.

"During the depression the world had witnessed the gradual piling up of certain agricultural commodities and the limitation of production. In some cases there was actual destruction of foodstuffs. Stocks rose to a level about double normal, nearly as much as the world's import demand for the entire world."

"It certainly seems therefore that we consume too little—not that we produce too much. And that is a fact which lies at the root of the agricultural depression."

Initiated By Indians

Were First To Introduce Social Credit In Alberta

Toronto.—Blackfoot Indians in Alberta had Social Credit long before the rest of the province. They told Kenneth Kidd of the anthropological department of the Royal Ontario museum, who spent the summer on their 138,000-acre reserve near Calgary.

"They said they used the 'same principle when they divided buffalo meat among the tribe after a hunt," Mr. Kidd said on his return to Toronto.

Larger Returns From Crop

Farmers In Calgary Area Expect To Profit From Better Prices

Calgary.—Prominent Calgary grain men estimated farmers within an area extending 75 miles about Calgary would realize $16,000,000 from their 1935 crop. It was estimated the crop will total 24,077,054 bushels, which will grade No. 3 Northern.

The return will be $600,000 more than last year although the yield is less and the grade lower. The difference will result from a better price, they said.

Big Road Building Program

Winnipeg.—Immediate start on a $2,730,000 road and bridge building program was authorized by the Manitoba government. An agreement with the Dominion government, paying part of the cost, provides men must be at work on the projects prior to Oct. 10, otherwise the work cannot be started.

Naval Officer Sentenced

Toulon, France.—Paul Rolland, young naval aviator, was convicted of attempted espionage and sentenced to two years in a prison by a naval court. He was the third person to be sentenced for spying in France within a week.

For Suppression Of Narcotics

Geneva.—Before the League of Nations assembly, Canada pressed for more vigorous efforts at the suppression of the traffic in narcotic drugs.
